

Lancaster Insurance Classic Car Motor Show, with Discovery, 2018.

Richard Atkinson has confirmed that our Club will once again have a stand at the Lancaster Insurance Classic Motor Show at the NEC, Birmingham, on the 9th to 11th November. This year the stand, in Hall 5, will be in front of the Wheeler Dealer stage, so it should be a busy venue.

This year's theme will be "Built to Last" and it is intended to celebrate vehicles that were built to last and have been passed down from generation to generation, some of which can still be seen on the roads today. There is an added poignancy this year as the last day of the Show, the 11th November 2018 is also the Centenary of the end of World War I and the organisers hope that the service men and women who safeguard our country can also be remembered as part of the year's theme.

Dave Youngs, Car Club Manager for Lancaster Insurance - "The theme can be interpreted in many ways and gives great scope for exhibitors to really make it their own. I work with clubs on a daily basis and admire each enthusiasts contribution, ensuring that our classic car community stays vibrant for future generations to enjoy. So along with celebrating marques, models and anniversaries, I can't think of a better theme to showcase this passion and dedication which is undoubtedly built to last!"

There will of course be family events as well. This year is also the 60th anniversary of LEGO, and the organisers hope to display vehicles such as the Mini Cooper, Ferrari F50 and the VW Beetle, made entirely of Lego bricks.

Richard Atkinson and Greg Diffen are the organisers for this year's Club Stand – watch this space for further updates..
